AN ENDURING COMMITMENT. AN EVOLVING COMPANY.

Enduring. Evolving.

When George Shaeffler founded his construction company in 1979, Vail was just taking off. "We were in the right place at the right time," says Shaeffler. "There was a lot of opportunity for people willing to learn and grow."

Shaeffler was one of those people. As his relationships with local architects grew, he committed to building a construction company where employees could prosper. "We wanted our employees to establish their careers and raise their families in this valley," he says.

The company did grow, building a reputation for excellence in home construction and adding to a portfolio of awe-inspiring residences throughout Colorado. Shaeffler recalls many creative collaborations between clients and trade contractors: "We were pushed to the next level by sophisticated design teams across the country."

INTRODUCING SHAEFFER HYDE CONSTRUCTION – CELEBRATING 35 YEARS!

Today, the company that George built is led by David Hyde. As they celebrate their 35th year in business, they are introducing a new name: Shaeffler Hyde Construction.

Hyde joined the ownership team in 2007, serving as president and managing the day-to-day operations. A down-to-earth, hands-on leader, he successfully steered the company through the economic downturn, introducing technology that streamlines cost modeling and catalogs the details of every project.

WHAT IS MOST EXCITING IS THE STRONG PARTNERSHIP DAVID AND I HAVE FORMED AND HOW THE ENTIRE COMPANY HAS GOTTEN BEHIND THIS TRANSITION. OUR VALUES ARE ALIGNED. EVEN AS OUR VISION EVOLVES, IT CONTINUES TO HONOR SHAEFFLER TRADITIONS.

— GEORGE SHAEFFLER, FOUNDER

As a LEED-accredited professional, Hyde continues to move the company forward, helping design teams and clients navigate sustainable design and construction practices.

Current projects are a mix of new construction and renovations. "New home sites are numbers in Vail," says Hyde, "but there is an increasing demand for remodels. We collaborate closely with clients, helping them explore renovation opportunities that reflect their lifestyle."

"Shaeffler Hyde continues to stand proudly behind every home we build," says Hyde. "Our name has changed, but our commitment to building remarkable homes is unwavering."
